Foreword

*W*ITH the publication of this beautiful and distinctive Book of Plans, entitled, "HOMES OF COMFORT," we have sounded the keynote of our new plan of closer co-operation with our lumber dealer friends.

The mere issue of this Book of Plans is not the most vital part of our carefully prepared plan of co-operation, but is simply a means to a greater service that we are desirous of extending to every merchant of lumber and its products.

We firmly believe that this Book of Plans will receive immediate approval at your hands and will reflect with credit upon our organization and our methods of business. Also our co-operative plan is entirely FREE from any suggestion of dealer preference or business duress, but is an honest effort on our part to provide a universal service for the lumber dealer.

The benefits that will naturally accrue from this service plan will depend in a large measure upon the dealer's willingness to work with us, and his belief in the policy and integrity of this institution.

We ask for nothing but your good will and co-operation, which we will greatly appreciate.

"Homes of Comfort"

IN ORDER that our Book of Plans, "Homes of Comfort," shall sustain our reputation as the leading manufacturers of modern millwork, we had our representatives visit various parts of the country to secure actual photographs of representative American homes, that have proved in actual construction, to be models of perfect home comfort. These homes were selected partly for their beauty of exterior and interior design and convenience in plan, but much more for the moderate building costs of these designs.

As a natural result we can offer for your approval, an unequalled collection of fine homes that will at once inspire prospective home-owners with the thought of ownership of one of these homes, which have been correctly and rightfully termed, "HOMES OF COMFORT."

DESIGN No. 1

ON THIS PAGE we illustrate a bungalow that rightfully deserves the name "Home of Comfort." Your attention is particularly called to the beautifully worked out exterior. Careful thought has been expended as well on the interior arrangement in order that this home might be an exceptional one in every detail. A large front porch will provide shelter from the sun's rays or winter's chill blasts. A home you will be proud to own and which can be built at reasonable cost.

A MORE comfortable and homelike home than Number Five would be a difficult matter to design. With all the many windows divided as shown a most pleasing effect is gained for the exterior, with the added advantage of fresh air and sunlight, one of the most important things in connection with home building today. The floor plan works out most conveniently and makes for greater household efficiency. A most favorite design.

*H*ERE is a house that is a real bargain, one to be snapped up quickly. A poor comparison to make in view of the general appearance of this design as we give the utmost value for the money invested. The surprisingly large amount of room attained in the floor arrangement will provide a comfortable home for a family much larger than would really expect to make a house of this character a home. Can be built at an exceedingly moderate cost.

FOR an artistic home, one that combines all the features and conveniences of a two-story house, we recommend Design No. 7. Six large, well lighted and ventilated rooms are shown in the floor plan illustrations. The dining room with octagonal shape affords unusual treatment of this room and also closet space opposite door leading into hall. The broad spacious veranda will find great favor with many contemplating this home. The old fashioned living room with massive fireplace has a great deal of charm.

NO PERSON could desire more in a home than this little house provides. We have full confidence in its superiority as a home of good taste, excellently arranged floor plan and construction equal to many larger homes. The handsome bungalow front door leads from the spacious porch into the living room which is of good proportion. A good looking colonnade separates this room from the dining room which has a bay with a mullion window. The bath and sleeping rooms are isolated from the living portion of the house. Altogether an ideal little home for the man of modest means.

A VERY good looking design typifying the usual character of bungalow construction. Good taste has been displayed in the combining of correct features in a plain, simple and pleasing exterior. The distribution of space in the interior has been cleverly done and is complete with modern features. The Living Room and Dining Room are separated by means of a modern colonnade, both rooms being well lighted and ventilated through the use of many windows. A sideboard is the feature of the Dining Room, while in the Kitchen will be found a very useful kitchen cabinet of good proportions. AN excellent example of a typical story and a half home is shown on this page. Seven rooms and Bath are obtained in this house whose outside dimensions are 24x26 feet. Your attention is particularly called to the sun parlor with its eight large windows affording plenty of sunshine and the glazed French doors leading into the Living Room. Entrance is had from the front porch into Reception Hall with its handsome stairway leading to second floor. Space does not permit our calling your attention to other features which recommend themselves equally well.

A STRIKINGLY different type of house is herewith shown—one that we feel sure will meet with your favor. The treatment of the roof has been very successful in making this a full two story house. The second floor arrangement in a home of this character is a very difficult one, inasmuch as a great deal of valuable floor space is usually lost. We have overcome this obstacle in a very complete manner as will be noticed upon careful study of the floor plans. Many windows of good size provide plenty of sunlight and air, an important matter that is not always given proper attention. The large fireplace in the Living Room, flanked on either side by bookcases, will find great favor.

THIS home can well be called "The Old Reliable". It is the usual type of one and one half story house which never fails to give complete satisfaction. This design has been modernized in the interior treatment, for instance, the very large Living Room and the cased openings between Living Room, Stair Hall and Reception Room. The sleeping quarters are also very well arranged, with plenty of light and closet room, and easy access to bath from each room. A winning design with plenty of substantial friends.

A SIMPLE, dignified, cozy little low-cost cottage, with an irresistible appeal to the builder of modest means. Seven rooms and bath are compactly arranged with the dimensions 24x24 feet. The little vestibule on front porch will keep out winter's cold blast as entrance is had directly into the Living Room. A wide cased opening separates the Living and Dining Rooms. A convenient bedroom is located on the first floor, it having been our experience that this feature is demanded by many builders. The three bedrooms on second floor are of good size and have individual closets.

HARDWOOD FLOORING

GRADING RULES

QUARTER-SAWED

CLEAR—Shall have one face practically free of defects, except $\frac{3}{8}$ of an inch of bright sap; the question of color shall not be considered; lengths in this grade to be 2 feet and up, not to exceed $10\frac{1}{2}$ under 4 feet.

SAP CLEAR—Shall have one face practically free of defects, but will admit unlimited bright sap. The question of color shall not be considered. Lengths in this grade to be 1 foot and up.

SELECT—May contain bright sap, and will admit pinworm holes, slight imperfections in dressing, or a small tight knot, not to exceed 1 to every 3 feet in length; lengths to be 1 foot and up.

PLAIN SAWED

CLEAR—Shall have one face practically free from defects, except $\frac{3}{8}$ of an inch of bright sap; the question of color shall not be considered; lengths in this grade to be 2 feet and up, not to exceed $10\frac{1}{2}$ under 4 feet.

SELECT—May contain bright sap, and will admit pinworm holes, slight imperfections in dressing, or a small tight knot, not to exceed 1 to every 3 feet in length; lengths to be 1 foot and up.

In ordering Oak Flooring be sure and state whether Plain or Quarter-Sawed Red or White is desired.

BILT-WELL
HARDWOOD FLOORING

How to Arrive at the Amount of Oak Flooring Required

To cover a certain space, figure the number of square feet, which means the width multiplied by the length; (for instance, a room 12 feet wide by 15 feet long would contain twelve times fifteen or 180 square feet). Add to the square feet of surface to be covered, the following percentages:

33 $\frac{1}{3}$ % for..... $\frac{13}{16}$ "x1 $\frac{1}{2}$ "	33 $\frac{1}{3}$ % for..... $\frac{13}{16}$ "x2 $\frac{1}{4}$ "
37 $\frac{1}{2}$ % for..... $\frac{13}{16}$ "x2"	33 $\frac{1}{3}$ % for..... $\frac{3}{8}$ "x1 $\frac{1}{2}$ "
25% for..... $\frac{3}{8}$ "x2"

Where there are bay windows, hearths and other projections, allowance should be made for excessive cutting.

LAYING OAK FLOORS

A sub-floor should be used under both the $\frac{13}{16}$ " and $\frac{3}{8}$ " thicknesses. The sub-floor should be reasonably dry and laid diagonally. Boards of about 6" wide are preferred. These boards should not be put down too tight and should be thoroughly dried and cleaned before the Oak Flooring is laid.

It is well to use BILT-WELL Tarred Felt between the Oak Flooring and the sub-floor. Where sound proof results are desired, BILT-WELL deadening felt is recommended.

Oak Flooring should be laid at an angle to the sub-floor. After laying and nailing three or four pieces, use a short piece of Hardwood 2x4 placed against the tongue, and drive it up with a sledge.

The nailing of Oak Flooring is very important. All tongued and grooved Oak Flooring should be blind nailed. The best floor made can be spoiled by the use of improper nails. The steel cut variety is recommended for all blind nailing.

For $\frac{13}{16}$ " use 8 penny steel cut flooring nail.

For $\frac{3}{8}$ " use 3 penny wire finishing nail.

The maximum distance between the nails should be:

For $\frac{13}{16}$ " thickness.....16"

For $\frac{3}{8}$ " thickness.....10"

For even better results, it is recommended that the nails be driven closer than indicated.
